Shakopee, Minn. -- A pair of $50,000 turf stakes restricted to horses foaled in Minnesota anchored Canterbury Park's July 3 racing program. A P Is Loose won the Blair's Cove Stakes for the third time and became the all-time leading purse earner at the Shakopee racetrack with earnings of $405,188. He is owned and was bred by Joel Zamzow of Duluth, Minn. A P Is Loose, now seven years old, won back-to-back editions of the Blair's Cove in 2015 and 2016, finished second last year, and tonight won by 1/2 length in 1:42.92 over a firm course.

"I didn't expect A P to win, I just didn't" Zamzow said. "At seven he is an old warrior. I'm over the moon."

Jareth Loveberry was aboard the winner for trainer Mac Robertson, who won his ninth Blair's Cove Stakes. "I really liked him today, I really liked him," Robertson said. Teddy Time, also trained by Robertson, was second and Where's Jordan finished third. A P Is Loose paid $7.40 to win.

Some Say So was victorious in the $50,000 Princess Elaine Stakes for the second consecutive year. The 5-year-old mare was guided through a pace-pressing trip by Leandro Goncalves to a one length win in 1:43.34. She returned $6.20.

"We got the dream trip," Goncalves said. "Outside post and she relaxed."

Some Say So is owned by Tim Rosin and Mark Kane, and is trained by Judd Becker. Wagering favorite First Hunter finished second, a neck better than Honey's Sox Appeal, who was third after contesting the lead early.

Racing resumes Wednesday at 12:45 p.m.
